MEMORANDUM FOR: Executive Director / Comptroller

SUBJECT: Space Requirement for the NIPE Staff

1. I am attaching a memorandum which shows the on board strength of the NIPE Staff as opposed to the authorized strength based on our requirements as originally submitted. Although we had originally estimated a total of 18 positions (of which nine are supergrades), I think that the present on board strength of 14 (of which three are temporary) will cover requirements for the foreseeable future.

2. The room space allotted (two rooms on the seventh floor and five rooms on the first floor) is adequate and suitable for the permanent staff. In addition to this, we need two representational offices during the temporary assignments of [redacted] has been taken care of by the additional office made available on the seventh floor. In addition to this, I am satisfied after considerable reflection that we need one more representational office for [redacted]. As you know, he is coming down here at a very considerable sacrifice and against the express wishes of the senior partners of his firm. I understand that Roswell Gilpatric has persuaded [redacted] that [redacted] assignment is of sufficient importance as to justify his absence from New York. I do feel that we should give him adequate space while he is here on an assignment which will probably run through June. What is perhaps more important than [redacted] personal convenience is the fact that he will be dealing with the senior officials of the Intelligence Community, with particular emphasis on NSA, and should have a reasonable base from which to operate.

3. I put this all in writing as [] has been extraordinarily helpful in working out various possibilities and I wanted to make our requirement a matter of official record. He has suggested that we make use of a room which will be available for a couple of months and then find other temporary space when this becomes necessary. Such an arrangement is perfectly satisfactory.
